

Telling Stories together for Change

15 – 20 May 2022, Athens, Greece

Information Pack

Dear participant in the Training Course “Telling Stories together for Change”,

It will be a pleasure to welcome you in Athens. With this info pack we aspire to give you the right information in order to facilitate your travel and stay, help you prepare and make you feel safe about your participation in the Programme.

About the “Future Narratives”

The project introduces youth workers and young people to the concept of “Futures Literacy,” developed since 2012 by UNESCO, seeking to study “the frames people use to understand tomorrow.” According to UNESCO, “Futures Literacy is a universally accessible skill that builds on the innate human capacity to imagine the future, and offers a clear, field tested solution to poverty-of-the-imagination”.

Future Narratives uses storytelling as the key tool to activate the capacity to reflect on the past, the present and the future and to recognise different approaches to them and their interpretation, thus fostering the understanding of the power of culture, stories and visions in enabling a better future.

The Future Narratives approach gives us not only the tools to work on a vision for ourselves and for our community, but also helps us develop key competences such as cultural understanding, critical thinking, digital literacy, communication and active participation in civic and social life.

About the Training Course in Athens

This training course aims to empower young people through the understanding and use of storytelling and future literacy. During the training course, participants will develop key competencies on how to frame their personal story, develop community stories and use video to construct a narrative for change.

What is a community? What does it mean to imagine a collective future? What is our community and how do we place ourselves within it? What are the stories that our communities share, and how do they relate to the stories of others?

Participants of the training course will have the opportunity to join the Future Narratives local working group and join the upcoming activities in Germany and Sweden.

Coordinator: Traces&Dreams (Sweden)

Partners: Euro Project Lab (Italy), Andalucía Acoge (Spain), Inter Alia (Greece), Machart (Germany), Möjligheternas Plats (Sweden)

Get to Know the City of Athens!

Welcome to Athens! Athens' historic centre is an open-air museum where the city's cultural and social life take place. It is a heady mix of history and edginess, with ancient and modern characteristics. The city is full of iconic monuments, museums, lively and cozy cafes, traditional taverns and stylish restaurants, artsy-industrial and alternative neighbourhoods, and entertainment quarters.

Athens spreads across the central plain of Attica and is bounded by four large mountains, namely, Mount Parnitha, Mount Penteli, Mount Aegaleo, and Mount Hymettus. Athens is named after Athena, the goddess of wisdom, who defeated Poseidon to become the patroness of the city. It is believed that the city has experienced every form of government till date, whether democracy, capitalism, socialism, communism, or any other.

Transport from the Airport to the city of Athens

There is the option to take either the bus X95 or the metro to Syntagma Square. From there, you can take the red line to Anthonoupoli and stop at Panepistimio or Omonia stop. These stops are the closest ones to the suggested accommodation and also to Inter Alia's office. The training will take place in Orion & Dryades roof garden which is 5' walking distance from our office.

Buses and taxis depart just outside the exit at the (airport) Arrivals level. Just follow the "Buses / limousines" signs. At the bus departures area there is also a ticket booth which is open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. The trip with the bus will take 45 to 1 hour, depending on the traffic, to the city center.

The airport's train station is where the Metro and Suburban railway trains depart, from adjacent platforms. The station's building is at the (airport) Departures level (if you arrive in Athens you'll take the elevator up) and it's connected to the main building via a passageway with a moving walkaway. It takes 3 – 5 minutes to get to the station from the main airport terminal's entrance/exit. Again, follow the signs "to Trains". At the station, there are ticket booths open when the trains are running. The trip with the metro will take approximately 30 mins to the city center.
